OFFICERS Elected.
Captain and Crew of the New Daily Paper Sailed Yesterday.

The name of the old Wichita Journal is to be revived again in the new daily local paper that will be started here this week. Yesterday the co-operators met and elected George Worthington, president and editor, J. E. Yarnell, vice president and business manager, Arthur A. Scholer, secretary, C. E. Carter, treasurer, Otto Kuezy, foreman, and Floyd Stearns, city editor. It is said also that Houston L. Taylor, Jr., will be reporter. The policy of the paper will be in harmony with the Populist principles. Lew Glenn was the first subscriber.

SALE ORDERED.
Hotel Ordered Sold in the Black Estate—Other Probate News.

The Manhattan hotel with all equipments was ordered sold by the probate court yesterday at not less than three-fourths its appraised value. Some time the selling of this hotel has been contemplated and it is probable that Mr. J. T. Tucker will be the purchaser. The property belongs to the estate of Robert Black, deceased. All the grain and growing crops in the estate were also ordered sold.

The final account of Elizabeth A. Hope as executrix for the estate of Joseph Hope was filed in the estate of L. Taylor, Jr., and the executrix dismissed.

In the estate of W. W. Luttrell the answer of M. A. Payne executrix to citation issued July 17 was filed.

MUST PAY A FINE.
Coxyites Still in Detention at the County Jail.

The term of the jail sentence of the Coxy army, Sanders' Cripple Creek bridge, has run out and they are expected to be released, but they were not. Orders have come that they are not to be released till they paid the fine which was made a part of the sentence. This move of them is able to do and the probability is that it will be a long time till they are given their liberty.

THREE BEER KEGS

THAT IS WHAT THE COUNCIL FIRST DISCUSSED LAST NIGHT.

Some Fine Enalogies on the Evils of Beer Drinking Made by the City Fathers—No Drunkenness or Disorderly Conduct Among Wichita Fire Laddies—Seven Year Bonds for Gas Agreed Upon—Proceedings in Brief.

It all arose over three kegs of beer, which the foreman of house No. 2 had on tap in an adjoining lot. This is why some citizens wished that the fire department of the city be investigated. The city council instructed the fire and water committee to do so and last night the committee reported to the council through its chairman, Dr. Minick.

They said that they had made a careful investigation and that three four-gallon kegs had been placed in a lot adjoining house No. 2, and that the firemen were accustomed to visit the kegs. They further found that there had been no drunkenness or disorderly conduct and commended the good order in which the department was run.

They commended the presenting or selling of liquor to the firemen or their buying such and recommended that any found doing so be immediately dismissed from the employ of the city.

Thomas Bolts resigned from house No. 2 and Robert Tuttle was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Fire boxes were ordered placed at the corner of Waco and Central avenues, Waco and Tenth street and Market and Ninth street. The fire-marshall was ordered to procure 100 boxes.

Otto Eckstein and Tim Lane were again on hand and fought to have the council allow the rearing of the old Douglas avenue house and after a hard struggle the council granted Mr. Lane's permission to repair the old building as high as the second story.

The question of voting for bonds to bore for coal was reconsidered and the council decided to issue bonds to the amount of $10,000. The bonds are to be paid in seven years. This, it was thought, would be well as by that time the sewerage of the city would be paid for.

Mayor Cox appointed Joseph Maxwell to fill the vacancy made by Dr. Minick on the board of health. Dr. Minick is still on the board but was holding membership bonds as a condition in his other capacity. Mr. Maxwell takes the councilman's capacity.

A petition was made to have the sidewalk set back on the lots between Eleventh and Twelfth streets on Lawrence avenue, thus making that street straight.

Quite a number of citizens in the south part of town requested the council to have the old Packer barn moved to the alley line. The barn faces on Topeka avenue just south of Lewis street.

Martia Ferguson claimed that the city owed her $5,075 because she tripped on a city sidewalk. She said her head was bruised, her elbow dislocated and one of her ribs broken.

Cottrell Hill who was absent owing to a severely sprained ankle recently, from stepping on a loose brick, caused a great deal of amusement by sending a communication to the council in the shape of a bogus petition for damages. It was a great joke and was well gotten up.

Earlier action in the evening, the council adjourned, at least an interesting meeting of the year. Five members were absent from the meeting.

IN SOUTH AMERICA.
Walter Donaldson the Caldwell Post-office Excelsior Located in South America.

Walter Donaldson, the young man who appropriated about $4,000 of the receipts of the Caldwell post-office, has been located in South America and an effort will soon be made to bring him back. He is passing himself off as a wealthy American and his intentions are to secure a commission in the army and become one of the pillars of the nation's security. It is possible, however, that his dreams of military glory will soon vanish as the United States will soon send after him to answer the charges against him.

Donaldson after fleeing from Kansas went to New Orleans, where the government located him. The government officers understood that his intentions were to go to South America and they watched the outgoing steamers but Donaldson took a train for one of the port-hubs New Orleans and escaped from there and thus escaped the vigilance of the New Orleans officers.

BRAKEMAN PUTS TWO BULLETS INTO A MAN AT NEWTON

It is Claimed That a Dispute Arose Over the Deceased Riding on a Freight Train and That He Shot at the Brakeman First.

Message Received by Colored Men Here Who Wanted the Brakeman Arrested.

A colored man was killed on the Santa Fe last night. He was shot dead by a brakeman on the train that passed through here at 9 o'clock.

The railroad men as a rule refuse to tell anything that happens in the service, but there is always a leak to be found. The trainmen on this particular train were no exception to the rule and when questioned about the tragedy their mouths closed tight and nary a word would they say concerning it.

The train, however, are about as follows: The freight train started out of the Newton yards and the brakeman, whose name could not be ascertained, noticed three colored men on the train. He ordered them to get off and they refused. A dispute followed, and one of the three men pulled a revolver and fired a shot. The brakeman pulled a revolver also and shot Henry Elliott, one of the three, twice wounding him fatally. It was reported here late among the colored men that he was dead. Some of the colored men here must have been notified of the affair by telegraph for two or three were at the depot when the train arrived at Newton. They carried revolvers and thought it should be stopped. It was not ascertained that the man who was killed belonged to Wichita. The colored men here would not have been advised of his death.

MEET AN OLD FRIEND.
Just Murphy Encounters a Man Who Jumped His Claim Nine Years Ago.

For nine years Just Murphy, the grocery man, has been hoping to see a chap who he claims to have jumped his claim. This gentleman's name was Crawford. Yesterday a little man came into his store and presented his card. It read "J. S. Crawford."

"Did you ever live at Las Animas?" said Mr. Murphy.

"I did," said Crawford.

"Then," said Murphy, "the very man that jumped my claim."

"Mr. Crawford looked as if he saw a ghost in the distance. He satified Mr. Murphy that he had indeed lived at Las Animas and that he had indeed jumped his claim. He said that he had indeed jumped his claim and that he had indeed jumped his claim."
